

Dear Valued Group Partner,

The teams at American Airlines and US Airways are working hard to integrate our group programs, policies, and procedures, and we'd like to share some important news about our group product offering.

American will continue to offer our popular block space and zone group products. Additionally, until we merge our pricing systems, American and US Airways will offer separate block space agreements, based on the carrier in the group itinerary.

As American and US Airways work to align our group products, the combined company will no longer offer a group discount product as of May 1, 2014. Previously, this type of group contract offered a percentage off published fares for groups of 10 or more passengers traveling from various origins to a common destination. American will continue to honor your current discount agreements, provided there are no changes to existing agreements.

For group bookings on American Airlines-operated flights, please continue to call 800-221-2255 or email aagmt.internet@aa.com.

We appreciate your patience as we work toward providing you with a fully-aligned group product. As always, thank you for your business and loyalty to American, and we will continue to keep you informed as we restore the world's greatest airline.
