AAdvantage Upgrade Award Change

Effective December 1, 2004, a nonrefundable co-payment of $250 will be required to claim mileage upgrade awards used with most discount and deep discount Economy fares when traveling between North America and Europe, Japan, and deep South America. The co-pay does not apply to these awards when used with full-fare Economy and Business Class tickets.

Even with a co-pay, upgrade awards provide AAdvantage members with exceptional value since they can be used with deeply discounted tickets and on systemwide routes.

To learn more about the AAdvantage upgrade award changes, please visit the AA.com website.

Smart Mileage-Saving Ideas

In our continuing quest to fit the AAdvantage program to your specific travel needs, American Airlines has developed some mileage-savings options that you'll want to look into.

Short Haul Awards

Claim a round-trip, short-haul MileSAAver<sup>SM</sup> award on AA.com for only 15,000 AAdvantage miles in Economy Class (a 10,000-mile savings) or 30,000 miles in First or Business Class (a 15,000-mile savings).

What is a short-haul route? It's a nonstop flight of 750 air miles or less, within and between the continental U.S. and Canada, that is operated by American Airlines, American Eagle, or AmericanConnection® carriers. For example, fly between Boston and Halifax, Nova Scotia, or Dallas/Fort Worth and Vail, Colorado. See www.aa.com/shorthauls for a complete list. Travel on this special award is valid now through February 28, 2005. Book your award on AA.com and earn up to 1,000 AAdvantage bonus miles.

Off-Peak MileSAAver Awards

Visit a Veritable Winter Wonderland

Taking in the beauty of nature during the winter is a completely different experience than at other times of year, and the best places to do that are America's National Parks. Many breathtakingly beautiful parks are open all year long, including the snow-covered Grand Teton National Park (nearest American Airlines destination: Jackson Hole) and the glittering Rocky Mountain National Park (Denver). Enjoy snowshoeing or cross-country skiing amidst the quiet solitude of snow-blanketed surroundings. Yosemite in California (San Francisco) and Olympic National Park (Seattle) both have manicured ski trails and lifts. North Cascades National Park (Seattle) is outstanding as well, with a winterized version of jagged peaks, deep valleys, and cascading waterfalls. Of course, American Airlines can help you get to any of these destinations. So, bundle up and start planning!

Ahem ... speaking of bundling up, beautiful, commemorative Pendleton blankets in seven different park designs are now available through the National Park Foundation online store at www.nationalparks.org. When you purchase these blankets, you'll give a unique holiday gift while contributing to the National Park programs, because a part of each sale goes back to the parks.

If ordering a blanket as a holiday gift, please place your order on or before Wednesday, December 8, to ensure delivery prior to December 25, 2004. However, quantities are limited, so the earlier you order the better.

Another way to support the National Parks is through the AAdvantage program. As a Proud Partner of the National Parks, American Airlines offers members a bonus of 10 AAdvantage miles* for every $1 given. You may make a donation online by going to www.nationalparks.org or by calling AAdvantage Customer Service at 1-800-421-0600. For gifts of $125 or more, AAdvantage members receive a complimentary National Park Pass (a $50 value). This pass allows free entry into any National Park that charges an entrance fee and is valid for a full year**.

*$10 is the minimum gift that earns miles.

**Please allow up to eight weeks for the bonus miles to be posted to your account. Gifts are tax-deductible less the value of the miles earned and less the value of the National Park Pass, if applicable.

We know you can't always fly American Airlines, so we provide ways for you to earn elite-qualifying miles on other airlines*. Our domestic codeshare with Alaska Airlines/Horizon Air will have you earning elite-qualifying miles to cities such as Medford and Eugene in Oregon, or Fairbanks and Juneau in Alaska.

To receive mileage credit and achieve the most seamless travel experience, advise your travel planner to add your AAdvantage number to each participating airline flight. Also, when you arrive at the airport, always check in for your flight with the operating carrier. For more information, please visit www.aa.com/codeshare.
